A FLY WENT BY

Author: Mike McClintock
Illustrator: Fritz Siebel
Publisher: Random House
Publish Date: 1986
Summary:

A boy halts a complicated, wild chase when he discovers that there really is no reason for the participants to be afraid and run away.

The style is comic and it was drawn by crayon. I can see lots of yellow color and it makes me feel warm. Although it was seemed to be drawn uncarefully, I think it has a relaxing feeling.

I think that function of illustration is to reinforce text. It makes me know more information about the story, such as what the man who chases the fox looks.

Good Point

I think it is easy to read and the plot makes reader really want to know who chases them and what happens in the end. It is an exciting story in the picture book. The most favorite role in the story is the little boy. Because of his curiosity and persistence, the story starts.
